CAMPAIGN DESCRIPTION/OBJECTIVES/GOALS

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

The 2008 Stamford marketing campaign was designed to promote Connecticut Department of Transportation (ConnDOT) Commuter Services and to provide assistance to employers not currently engaged with other transportation programs or offices. Coordinated by the South Western Regional Planning Agency, the campaign included direct telephone contact using a discussion guide (Appendix A). The campaign was implemented by a team consisting of ConnDOT, and ConnDOT Commuter Services representatives from MetroPool, Rideworks, CT Transit, and 2Plus (Appendix B). The campaign ran from mid-August to mid-September 2008.

Unlike traditional media/direct mail outreach efforts, this program is uniquely interactive -- engaging employers in a personal dialogue with ConnDOT Commuter Services representatives leading to an ongoing relationship for information exchange, needs assessment, and ConnDOT-sponsored commuter programs customized for the individual employer.

The campaign was budgeted at $40,000. Funding was included in the 2008 Statewide Ridesharing Project (# 0170-2709; see Work plan Appendix C).

The campaign's target group included 1,930 businesses in Stamford. See Appendix D for businesses mapped by size and relation to transit routes.

OBJECTIVES

Objectives of this project were to:

- Inform employers about available ConnDOT transit & ridesharing options
- Deliver ConnDOT transit & ridesharing information to employers
- Promote ConnDOT Commuter Services programs with emphasis on assistance to employers in commuter trip planning.

GOALS

Goals of the project were to:

- Assess area business transportation needs
- Gauge awareness of ConnDOT-sponsored ridesharing services
- Measure interest in employer promotion of carpool, vanpool, bus, rail, telecommuting, and tax benefit commuting options

- Identify at least 200 businesses interested in ConnDOT-sponsored alternative commute modes
- Document and evaluate the program

METHODOLOGY

- 2 Plus purchased a list of 2,665 contacts in the Stamford area from infoUSA. The list was weeded down after omitting auto dealers, restaurants, churches, movie theaters, government offices, cab and limousine services, real estate offices, and the like who have previously been found to be unproductive when promoting ridesharing.
- SWRPA plotted the contacts on a map by size, reviewed the proposed contact list and eliminated inappropriate contacts and added others based upon SIC code, size, location and local knowledge.
- MetroPool reviewed the list and provided input.
- The updated list was approved by ConnDOT, with 1,930 of the original 2,665 contacts remaining.
- After discussions with ConnDOT and CT Transit, SWRPA and 2Plus agreed that the callers would benefit from knowing the CT Transit routes that served each specific employer to be called.
- SWRPA provided the base maps originally obtained from CT Transit.
- 2Plus imported the maps into its GIS system and plotted the 1,930 potential business contacts.
- To assist 2Plus contact staff, CT Transit routes within ¼ mile of each contact were identified to enable callers to advise the contact of available CT Transit bus service.

RESULTS SUMMARY

BUSINESS NEEDS ASSESSMENT/INTEREST

Over half of the businesses completing specific questions reported being interested in information about ConnDOT's commuting services for their employees. Interest levels varied but were high for specific individual services. The highest interest level was in promoting shuttle service from the train stations, followed by the commuter tax benefit, bus, rail, vanpool, carpool, and telecommute information. Interest varied from 69% for shuttles to 26% for telecommuting.

AWARENESS OF CONNDOT RIDESHARING SERVICES

Awareness of ConnDOT services also varied widely. Awareness levels ranged from a high of 97% for Metro North/New Haven line to 17% for NuRide and Telecommute Connecticut.

DOCUMENT AND EVALUATE THE PROGRAM

This report summarizes the Stamford campaign findings, offers an analysis and discussion of the effort, and presents conclusions and recommendations. Appendices provide the project team participants; related scope-work plan; area maps of businesses by size in relation to transit service; list of businesses contacted; relevant ConnDOT services & links; contact referrals; and the telephone meeting feedback form.

FINDINGS

EMPLOYER CONTACTS

- Attempts to contact all 1,930 employers were made (see Appendix E). Each respondent was contacted up to a maximum of four times, or until a contact and meeting/interview could be completed.
- Interviews were completed with 445 businesses (23%). The remaining 1,485 were either not interested, had inoperable numbers, or could not be reached within the campaign timeline.
- 259 businesses (58%) were interested in ConnDOT-sponsored ridesharing services.
- The 259 interested businesses exceeded the campaign goal by 30%.
- The 259 businesses represent nearly 11,500 total employees or 9% of the employees in the contact area.

EMPLOYER AWARENESS

- 97% Metro-North/New Haven line
- 89% CT Transit
- 42% Easy Street
- 24% Commuter Tax Benefit
- 17% NuRide
- 17% Telecommute Connecticut

EMPLOYER INTEREST

- Areas of interest included:
 - Promoting shuttle service to train (69%)
 - Commuter Tax Benefit (53%)
 - Bus (40%)
 - Vanpool (39%)
 - Rail (39%)
 - Carpool (36%)
 - Telecommute (26%)

The campaign generated 1,237 individual requests for more information on ConnDOT-sponsored ridesharing services, with an average of 4.8 requests per company. The interest is as follows:

- Ridematch 41
- Commuter rail 173
- Bus 178
- Vanpool 170
- Carpool 160
- Telecommute 114

- Deduct-A-Ride 235
- Commuter van shuttles 166

As this outreach process ended only one month ago, follow-up among ConnDOT sponsored commuter service providers is still ongoing.

PRELIMINARY FOLLOW-UP FROM METROPOOL

MetroPool was assigned the responsibility for fulfillment of low interest telecommuting, medium interest telecommuting, ridematching, rail, bus, vanpool, carpool, Deduct-A-Ride, and commuter van shuttles leads.

MetroPool initially received interest in various transportation services from 259 distinct companies. Preliminary results are as follows:

- 22 new companies promoting ConnDOT sponsored transportation services
- 19 new companies promoting ConnDOT sponsored transportation options literature
- 25 new information kiosks established
- 24 on-site visits for detailed presentation of ConnDOT sponsored transportation services
- 21 companies currently promoting ConnDOT sponsored transportation services
- 34 bike riders identified
- 1,024 bus riders identified
- 389 carpoolers identified
- 126 persons working a compressed work week identified
- 16 persons riding private shuttles identified
- 2 private shuttles identified
- 243 telecommuters identified
- 603 train riders identified
- 234 walkers identified

PRELIMINARY FOLLOW-UP FROM 2PLUS

2Plus was assigned responsibility for fulfillment of high interest vanpool leads. Preliminary results on the 36 leads received are as follows:

- 36 employers were phoned, e-mailed, and mailed with requested information on vanpools.
- Five meetings were held.
- Two presentations were conducted.
- Four Easy Street Rider Reservation forms were received.
- Follow-up is on-going.

PRELIMINARY FOLLOW-UP FROM RIDEWORKS

Rideworks was assigned the responsibility for fulfillment of high interest telecommuting leads.

Rideworks initially received eight high interest telecommute leads from this outreach process. Preliminary results are as follows:

- Eight (8) companies were phoned, emailed, and mailed information about telecommuting.
- Follow-up is ongoing.

OBSERVATIONS

The following section provides team members' observations (in random order) on issues raised in pre-implementation discussions and during the campaign itself:

- Employers expressed no concerns/complaints about receiving multiple calls from separate ConnDOT Commuter Services representatives.
- There was a modest level of response to voicemail messages left from initial calls, indicating employer interest in learning about transportation solutions for their employees. This further confirms that while interest does exist, active outreach efforts are necessary to reach otherwise busy employers.
- Follow-ups by ConnDOT Commuter Services representatives should be more than just leaving voicemail messages – personal contact should be made to build and reinforce positive relationships.
- Determination of interest level (high-medium-low) should be made by the sponsoring contractor, and not by the 2Plus interviewer.
- Service team members report that individual company interest generated from this outreach approach appears to be as high as those who proactively phone in to ConnDOT Service offices for general assistance in program areas.
- All short-cut coding, such as A= or B= should be removed from sample report templates. Plain language should be used when disseminating information to Commuter Services partners for follow-up.
- Every attempt should always be made to get first and last name for all company contacts. If the contact won't provide a last name, then the person's last name initial or title should be obtained.
- The rank ordering of high, medium, and low interest gauged by the interviewers (and not in specific separate questions), appears to be an effective use of time for telecommuting interest.
- Care must always be taken when discussing tax savings, as some people conclude that Commuter Choice is a windfall tax relief, when savings are capped on a maximum of $115 per month per person.

- Doctor's offices, hair salons, barbershops, and construction companies should be added to the non-productive list of company types.

CONCLUSIONS

This section offers lessons learned from the Stamford campaign that can be applied to future marketing and outreach efforts:

- The Stamford area has strong potential for increasing participation in ConnDOT-sponsored transit & ridesharing services. Nearly three-fifths of the employers who participated in the campaign were interested in obtaining more information on transportation for their employees.
- Based upon our outreach efforts additional marketing and promotion of vanpooling and carpooling programs is warranted. Less than half of the outreach participants were aware of the Easy Street vanpool program (42%), and awareness of NuRide and Telecommute Connecticut stands at 17%.
- On-going outreach campaigns might be more productive than limited time-frame efforts to more efficiently synchronize initial contacts with follow-up activity.
- Employer outreach campaigns might be more productively conducted to avoid summer vacations/holiday periods.
- Employer interest in promoting ConnDOT-sponsored transit & ridesharing programs is high at 58%.
- The personalized, localized model used for the Stamford project yields positive results:
 - It generates good will for ConnDOT
 - Communicates ConnDOT's interest in helping all businesses, both small and large promote ConnDOT-sponsored transit and ridesharing services
 - Connects ConnDOT Commuter Services contractors with employers
 - Enables employers to offer commuting solutions to employees without any incremental cost/effort on the part of the employer
 - Creates a positive, unified response by a partnership of offices, providers, and players
- The ConnDOT Commuter Services team approach has proved very successful due to six primary factors:
 - Up-front team buy-in and collaboration by all stakeholders
 - A comprehensive pre-implementation process which developed the campaign's scope
 - Periodic team meetings to review progress and adjust activities
 - Immediate follow-up and delivery of services

- The paradigm shift to a sales/customer service/relational format from prior research-oriented surveys with little to no follow-up by vendors
- Project participation and coordination by the local RPA – SWRPA.

As this is the third such direct contact campaign in a year, this approach has proven to be a successful adjunct to other state-funded efforts to promote transit and TDM (transportation demand management).

OPPORTUNITIES

- Following the Statewide Ridesharing Work Plan Goal to “Identify opportunities for TDM growth in business areas,” following are opportunities stemming directly from the data collected and the project team’s observations and conclusions:
- Continue the normal course-of-business follow-up/fulfillment process with the employers contacted.
- Follow-up in three to six months with employers who requested information.
- Schedule future campaigns to continue efforts to reach both those employers contacted and to reach those employers not contacted during this campaign time period.
- Utilize this direct outreach model for similar campaigns throughout the state of Connecticut as part of the state’s TDM program.
- SWRPA recommends that an additional outreach campaign be conducted for the Danbury Rail Line Corridor in the upcoming year. Ideally, this outreach should consist of three components:
 1. Employer outreach – use the outreach protocols established and refined in the last two years to contact employers along the Danbury Branch from Norwalk to Danbury. The contacts would be developed by 2Plus, MetroPool, SWRPA, HVECO, HART, chambers of commerce, municipalities, and ConnDOT. The outreach would promote existing transit services, TDM and rail services. Promotional elements, such as “try transit” free bus, rail, and vanpool trips would be developed, implemented, and evaluated.
 2. Consumer outreach – a protocol for contacting individual consumers/customers would be developed and implemented to promote available TDM and transit services. The service would minimally promote a number of free rail passes, to non existing customers. Bus and vanpool trials could also be offered.
 3. Evaluation – all efforts undertaken in the corridor would be evaluated, with metrics and benchmarks established with all participating parties.
